

Allie Kronick

Allie Kronick is a freelance teaching artist based out of Brooklyn, NY. She graduated magna cum laude from the Conservatory of Performing Arts at Point Park University with a dual concentration in Jazz and Modern dance performance and will complete her AmSAT certification to teach the Alexander Technique in fall 2024. Throughout her career, Allie has danced for Abarukas, Annalee Traylor, Bryn Cohn + Artists, Boca Tuya/Omar Roman de Jesus, Houston MET Dance, and LED Boise, among others.

Allie has taught for and created on numerous young artists across the US and abroad. Her choreography has been presented at the Riverside Dance Festival (FL), Dallas Dance Fest (TX), “Tapping Away” at the Evelyn Rubenstein JCC (TX), Montclair High School (NJ), and Fini Dance (Italy). She has also staged work and assisted creations for Ballet Vero Beach, James Madison University, The Ailey School, Marymount Manhattan College, Montclair High School, and LaGuardia High School. Allie was a founding faculty member teaching contemporary dance for the Professional Training Program at the Martha Graham School. Guest teaching includes Manhattanville College (NY), Slippery Rock University (PA), Fini Dance International Summer School (Italy), and Movement Research in NYC.

@alliekronick